

Burned Missile Worker Dies

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A 29-year-old spacecraft mechanic lost a three-day fight for his life Friday and became the first rocket fatality in the 14-year history of this missile test center.

Sidney Dagle of Longmont, Colo., was burned over every inch of his body last Tuesday when a five-foot rocket stage ignited accidentally and showered the interior of a checkout building with blazing solid propellant.

Dagle and 10 other men were burned. Two remained critical Friday. They are L. D. Gabel, 51, also of Longmont, and John Fassett, 30, of Merritt Island, Fla., both with more than 80 per cent of their bodies burned.

Reading Mayor Found Guilty

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal court jury Friday night convicted former Reading Mayor John C. Kubacki and Abraham Minkler, also of Reading, on five separate counts of conspiracy and overt acts involving extortion of $10,500 from two parking meter firms doing business with the city of Reading in 1960 and 1961.

The jury of 10 women and two men recorded its verdict at 9:21 p.m. The jury had begun its deliberations just before noon.

Both men face a maximum sentence of up to 55 years in jail each and $50,000 fines each.

Billie Sol Wins Jail Delay

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes won Friday a 90-day stay of a Texas Court of Criminal Appeals order that he begin serving the eight-year prison sentence given him on a swindling conviction.

The court agreed to stay its mandate so Estes' attorney, John Cofer, could appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court. On Wednesday, the court rejected for the third time Estes' appeal from the Tyler swindling conviction, but allowed 15 days for one more appeal because an earlier opinion was reworded.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Ernest Gracco, 47, is free in $250 bail Friday after he allegedly threw a punch that broke the jaw of his bride in two places, minutes after the wedding ceremony.

The bride, Jane Gracco, 37, was at Atlantic City Hospital in fair condition.

Police said the newlyweds were walking down Atlantic Avenue after their wedding Thursday when they began to argue about in-laws. Police said that's when Gracco punched her.

No Verdict Yet For Roy Cohn

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal court jury failed again Friday to reach a verdict on perjury charges against Roy M. Cohn, onetime aide to Sen. Joseph P. McCarthy, and the jurors were sent to a hotel for a second overnight recess.

They will resume deliberations Saturday morning. So far they have met for 17 hours and 20 minutes.

Stock Market Hits New Peaks

NEW YORK (AP) — It was another big day for Texas Gulf Sulphur on the New York Stock Exchange Friday and the stock market made its only clear-cut gain of the week. Trading was heavy.

Volume swelled to 6.03 million shares from 5.27 million Thursday and was the heaviest since April 2 when 6.54 million shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 1.68 to 827.33, latest in its series of historic peaks.

Fishing Season Opens

HARRISBURG (AP) — Half a million fishermen are expected to converge on Pennsylvania's huddling brooks and streams Saturday for the opening of the 1964 trout season.

Ideal weather with sunny skies and warm temperatures was the forecast.

The season officially opens at 5 a.m., 24 minutes before sunrise.

The State Fish Commission completed its pre-season stocking program earlier this week, adding 1,755,000 brook, brown, and rainbow trout to 4,500 miles of streams and lakes.

Most streams in the state are reported in good condition, running at normal spring levels with clear water, except in areas of local rain showers.

"We're looking forward to a fine trout season," said Albert Day, executive director of the commission. "We haven't had any complaints on the fish we've stocked. Most are over eight inches and are in very good shape."

The 1964 season winds up at midnight Labor Day, Sept. 7.

Rough estimates indicate some 550,000 licenses have been sold, about the same as last year. There was no indication at present what effect increased license fees would have.

The commission has estimated sales would be down 10 or 15 per cent. Resident fees went up from $3.20 to $5.20; non-resident fees jumped to $9.50.

After the first few days, fishing pressure is expected to drop off as much as 50 per cent. The commission also is making plans for in-season stream stocking after the first rush.

Student Wants to Kill President

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The themes turned in by students in a Jefferson High School English class were all entitled, "What I Plan to Do in the Summer of 1964." But one shocked the teacher.

The 10th line read: "I'll take a trip to Washington, D.C., and kill the President."

The teacher turned the theme over to Dean of Boys Jorge Garcia, and he called police.

Friday, Carl Delvic, 17, was held under $5,000 bond by U.S. Commissioner Paul Game Jr. on a charge of threatening the President's life.

Game asked Delvic if he still wished to kill President Johnson, and the youngster answered, "That is what I would like to do."

Asked if the theme — which also outlined plans to purge the nation of Communists, Jews and Negroes — was an accurate outline of his plans, Delvic said, "Yes, sir."

The boy said he planned to spend the summer raising money to hire an assassin, but if he couldn't get the money, he would carry out the threat himself. He told Game he would try to get past the President's guards and use poison.

Nikita, Lively At 70, Has 'Not Much Time Left'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev was showered with honors Friday on his 70th birthday and in return promised to continue to serve although he is at an age when a man hasn't much time left.

With Soviet officials and Eastern bloc leaders gathered about him in the Kremlin, he said that despite the conflict with Red China the road always will be left open "for a rapprochement and understanding." Nor will there be a break in relations with Peking, he added.

These were words that many of his supporters in the Eastern bloc wanted to hear, for they fear that a Soviet - proposed showdown meeting on Red China would cleave the world Communist movement beyond repair.

Johnson Warns Of Strike Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Friday night a nationwide railroad strike "would almost paralyze our whole system."

Johnson said a strike would cause the loss of 7 million jobs in a very short time and would cause a downturn in the nation's total production of 10 to 15 per cent.

Speaking to a group of newspaper editors in the White House rose garden, Johnson also said national train tieups would create "great dangers in health" to the nation's people.

Johnson spoke as negotiators for five unions and nearly 200 railroads continued day and night sessions in emergency bargaining talks set up by Johnson.

Johnson's remarks to the visiting editors were part of an extemporaneous talk about "the job which fate has thrust upon me."

LBJ Dances, Tells Band To Play On

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson led some 200 men dancing in the crowded East Ballroom of the White House Friday, ordering the orchestra to keep playing.

The President started off the dancing at a White House reception for 1,000 editors and their wives attending the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The President stayed on the floor an hour and 20 minutes. He even started up the orchestra again, when one editor's wife, Mrs. Martin Ochs of the Chattanooga Times, said she hadn't danced with the President yet.

The reception became a swinging dance party with refreshments served from five bars and two buffet tables in the formal rooms of the executive mansion.

The President danced with as many of the editors' wives as he could. He sent orders to the six-man dance band to play short selections, fox trots and waltzes, and to keep playing constantly.

Second Hung Jury Saves Beckwith

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The second murder trial of Byron De La Beckwith, a dedicated segregationist accused of killing "the general" of the Mississippi integration movement, ended Friday with a hung jury.

Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick ordered a mistrial and set Beckwith's bond at $10,000.

Beckwith was driven to Greenwood where his bond was posted by several residents of his hometown.

"When we arrived at Tehula there was a sign saying, 'Welcome Home, Delay' and when I got to the outskirts of Greenwood there was another one," Beckwith said. "It brought tears to my eyes."

It was the first time Beckwith had been in Greenwood since he was arrested 10 months ago.

Beckwith, a Greenwood, Miss., fertilizer salesman, is accused of being the sniper who shot Negro integration leader Medgar Evers in the back last June 12. The all-white jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after 18 hours of deliberation and many ballots. The vote was eight to four for acquittal. The first trial ended Feb. 7 with the jury divided six to six.

Rusk Tells Saigon Of Red 'Misery'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the South Vietnamese people Friday he is in Saigon to make clear once again that the United States will help them defeat the effort of Red China and Communist North Viet Nam "to impose their own misery upon you."

This embattled republic "will have peace when Hanoi and Peking have been taught to leave their neighbors alone," he declared at the outset of a visit that is to include a direct look at the U.S.-backed war against the Red Viet Cong.

Speaking before a welcoming crowd of 600 at the airport, Rusk said he has not the slightest doubt of victory.

Then he talked with American diplomatic and military leaders headed by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Paul D. Harkins and, a spokesman said, passed on to them "some of President Johnson's personal views."

The discussion so intrigued Rusk he decided to delay his departure for Washington from noon Sunday, as originally scheduled, to 9 a.m. Monday.

"This will give him a chance to talk at greater length to the American and Vietnamese people over here," said Robert Manning, assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Rusk's arrival bought the tightest security precautions ever imposed for an official American visit to Saigon.

Normally bustling main streets of the capital were deserted except for police guards as a motorcade swept Rusk from the airport to the U.S. Embassy.

A round of official calls and a trip into the Communist-manned countryside face Rusk on Saturday.

He is to meet Foreign Minister Phan Huy Quot and call on Premier Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Charles de Gaulle, President of France

De Gaulle Doing Well After Surgery

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle underwent surgery Friday for a prostate gland disease. A bulletin signed by three doctors described the 73-year-old president's condition afterward as "very satisfactory."

A communique issued at Elysee Palace, said: De Gaulle "underwent an operation this morning for a disease of the prostate. This surgical intervention had been decided several weeks ago."

A medical bulletin said: "The operation took place normally. The condition of Gen. de Gaulle is very satisfactory."

It was signed by Drs. Pierre Aboukier, Roger Parlier and Jean Lassner.

Leading Urologist Aboukier, one of the country's leading urologists, performed the operation, assisted by Parlier and Lassner.

The announcement did not disclose the length of the operation, but some well-informed sources said it lasted as long as an hour and 50 minutes.

The announcement was not released until almost 12 hours after the operation had begun.

The president went into the operating room shortly after 8 a.m. and the medical bulletin was released just before 7 p.m.

Long before that the news had spread. The delay in making the official announcement was said to have been ordered by De Gaulle.

The news, which caught the nation by surprise, recalled in dramatic fashion the precarious nature of the country's one-man rule. Only Thursday night, millions saw and heard the president, in evident good form, on a pre-recorded nationwide radio-television broadcast.

Medical authorities in Paris say De Gaulle will have to remain in the hospital a week or 10 days and then rest for two to four weeks. There was no sign that he intended to step out of the presidency.

In his recorded speech, he spoke with customary vigor and seemed in good physical condition. The speech was broadcast at 8 p.m., and an hour later the president was entering the Left Bank Cohnin Hospital to prepare for the operation.

2 Doctors Arrested On Sabotage Charge

BRUSSELS (AP) — Belgium's doctors' strike ended early Saturday after 18 days of wrangling by the government and the strikers over provisions of a controversial socialized medical law.

Justice Minister Pierre Verheylen read newsmen a communique saying the embattled doctors had agreed to call off the strike.

He added that no understanding was reached, however, on the conflicting points of view concerning the new medical legislation.

2 Doctors Arrested
Just before the end police announced the arrest of two doctors and a technician for suspected sabotage of hospital X-ray equipment.

Strike leaders, members of the government and mediators gathered early Saturday morning at the residence of Premier Theo LeFevre after 14 hours of talks and bargaining.

"Wisdom and good sense have won at last," said Social Affairs Minister Edmond Leburton, author of the socialized medicine bill the 12,000 doctors and dentists struck against.

Talks to compromise differences on the law itself will begin when the doctors and dentists return to their normal duties and the government withdraws its emergency regulations.

The communique said the doctors' leaders ordered their colleagues to stop the strike immediately throughout the country.

With the ending of the walk-out, doctors will again call on patients and treat them in their offices.

The strikers said they had received guarantees indicating a good chance exists to settle the medical profession's argument with the left-leaning government of Premier LeFevre. Negotiations on the medical law itself will open Wednesday.

3 Married Policemen Murdered By Thieves

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Three policemen were handcuffed together and shot to death in a remote wooded area early Friday after the three apparently surprised a gang of car thieves.

Ironically, the Gwinnett County officers were on a mercy mission at the time. One of them was ill and the other two were taking him home. All three were married. Two of them had children.

The bodies of Jerry R. Everett, 28; Ralph K. Davis, 49; and J. N. Gravitt, 52, were found in a pile in an area about 15 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Investigators said indications were the men died from bullets fired from their own pistols. There were bullet wounds in their heads and stomachs.

Chester Race Crisis Boiling

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — The president of the Chester Businessmen's Association appealed to Gov. Scranton Friday to intervene in civil rights protests which he described as "approaching an emergency situation."

Edwin M. Reid, in a telegram, referred to demonstrations over the past three weeks by civil rights groups protesting what they say is de facto segregation in the Chester school system.

Mayor James H. Gorbey and city council met publicly with the school board Friday night. Leaders of the local Negro protest groups were invited, but Stanley E. Branche, head of the Committee for Freedom now and Phillip Savage, tri-state director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, declined to attend.

Gooding, sponsor of one such resolution, said he has been swamped with cards, letters and petitions urging passage of the proposal. His congressional district includes Adams, Cumberland and York counties.

Church Criticized On Bible Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George A. Gooding, R-Pa., questioned Friday whether the elected leaders of the national council of churches speak for their membership when they oppose a proposed constitutional amendment to permit prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

Gooding, sponsor of one such resolution, said he has been swamped with cards, letters and petitions urging passage of the proposal. His congressional district includes Adams, Cumberland and York counties.

Invisible Student Oznot Accepted By Princeton

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Joseph David Oznot is not going to Princeton University next September.

Princeton officials said Friday they had been tricked into admitting Oznot, a fictitious student, into the class of 1968.

Princeton's admissions director, E. Alden Dunham called it "an ingenious, well-planned hoax, and one that was 'very difficult to carry off.'"

At the same time, four Princeton sophomores, who asked that their names not be used, said Friday that they and friends at Michigan State University and Columbia University were behind the admission to Princeton of Oznot.

Christmas vacation, the students said, a Columbia University sophomore posing as Oznot traveled to Princeton for an interview.

Two of the Princeton students then took Oznots college board examinations. One, a prospective physics major, took the English and mathematics aptitude portion in the morning and a second Princeton student took the afternoon portion of the test in Latin and English composition.

Both students scored in the 700s out of a possible 800. The next problem was to get Oznots high school marks on his application. A university spokesman explained that blanks are sent to all applicants for admission, which the applicant must take to his secondary school to be filled in. Needless to say, the application blank was never seen by officials at East Lansing High School.

On Wednesday, a letter of acceptance, one of 1,165 sent to students who had been admitted to Princeton, was mailed to Joseph David Oznot.

Dunham said a similar hoax had succeeded at Princeton in 1917.

Dunham said Friday that no disciplinary action was contemplated for the students behind the hoax, who are still unknown to university officials.

University officials were alerted to the latest hoax by the varsity Press Club. The club is composed of a small number of students who serve as correspondents for news media. A spokesman for the club said the hoaxers told him of their "trick." As to why they did it, one of the students said, "We wanted to add an air of levity to the normally sober atmosphere of college admissions."

Army Chaplain Gets Angry

By RICHARD C. BAYER

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—The chaplain's voice suddenly lost its friendly tone. He warned the man on the telephone he would take the problem to the general, then hung up.

The problem, explained Lt. Col. John A. Lindvall, was that they wanted to convert a building he used as chapel into a beer hall.

John Lindvall wears the silver leaf of his Army rank on one lapel and the cross of a man of God on the other. After more than 15 years active duty he sometimes gets angry, but rarely is shocked.

He was one of the first five Army chaplains to serve a tour in Viet Nam. For a year, starting in February 1962, he traveled the jungles, rice paddies and mountains to preach to troops and civilians.

Now the 43-year-old paratrooper person from Sunnyvale, Calif., is senior among the 16 chaplains who serve the 3,000-man 52nd Airborne Division in a community closely linked with the war in Viet Nam.

A member of the Assembly of God Church, he explains his brand of religion comes straight from the Bible.

"I'm an Orthodox believer," he said. "I'm like Gidye Gradow. I preach, 'Thus saith the Lord. And I believe in original sin. I believe that we're all fallen.'"

A veteran of World War II, Lindvall stayed in the Army after being recalled for the Korean War. He is married and has four children, two of whom were born in Europe while he served with his church's mission board.

As a qualified paratrooper with 36 jumps to his credit, Lindvall likes to stick close to his booted flock.

"I tell these other chaplains not to be shocked if they see me down in the beer halls talking with the men," he said.

"The kind of chaplain I like is a man who projects himself and can communicate with the soldiers," he added. "And when dealing with soldiers you have to remember their basic faith is still there."

"I'd feel a little stifled back in a civilian church where everyone is supposed to conform."

Faith can place a candle in the darkest night.

—Margaret E. Sangster

Faith should enlarge its borders and strengthen its base by resting upon Spirit instead of matter.

Novel Religious Tools

LONDON (AP)—Although guitars and drums may not be the ordinary instruments of the church, they are being used by a group of young theological students at Spurgeon's College here to arouse religious interests among those outside the church.

Known as "The Ventures," the students hold meetings in clubs, cafes, factory canteens and in the open air.

Today's Lesson:

Family Tensions

By R. H. RAMSEY

Before delving into today's lesson, let us briefly consider Jesus' own childhood behavior pattern, as recorded in Luke 2:40, 51 and 52.

Like all children between birth and adolescence, Jesus grew with no responsibility excepting that of obedience to authority. At the age of 12, we find Him in the Temple, asking and answering questions of the learned rabbis. When His parents bade Him come with them, He obeyed, though He must have been sorely tempted to remain and continue His discussions.

Thus, Jesus, Himself, not only reinforced the child's responsibility of obedience, He firmly established parental authority as basic to Christian family life.

The assigned paragraph from Matthew 10:34-39 opens with Christ's recognition that the Christian Gospel will divide, rather than unify the world; that the path of those who follow Him leads to peace, but it leads through strife.

This strife follows even into the home where, in many cases, the result will be the family taking sides. Thus, the one who follows Christ's cross and follows Him will find foes even in his own household. The question arises, what should a person do?

Our Lord makes it clear that love for Him must come first, even before that of love for any member of the family. If it is a question of loyalty to Christ or loyalty to a loved one, then we must choose loyalty to our Lord.

In chapter 5, verse 21 of his letter to the Ephesians, the Apostle Paul outlines the basic precepts of Christian family life. This concluding statement of the preceding paragraph introduces the principle of mutual submission.

Exhorting wives to be in submission to their husbands, Paul is not saying "obey," though this is found elsewhere in his writings. He refers to a submission that is merely the voluntary submission of one Christian to another. It reflects his regard of the family as a divine institution wherein husbands have the responsibility of leadership, support, protection and loving care; his reasoning being that the husband is the head of the wife, just as Christ is the head of the church.

Recognizing that the greatest danger of selfishness lies on the masculine side, Paul charges husbands to love their wives as much as they love themselves, even as much as Christ loved His church. The husband who makes his wife and home a convenience, taking the comforts they offer and giving little or nothing in return, turns his wife's submission into a joyless restraint.

Then the apostle goes back to the Ten Commandments, quoting Exodus 20:12 and Deuteronomy 5:16; children are to honor and obey their parents. This idea is not unique with Christianity or Judaism. It is written in the Koran, in the teachings of Buddha, Confucius, and firmly entrenched in the minds of the most heathen or pagan children.

It is interesting to note how subtly Paul has changed the phrasing of the original commandment here, making it applicable to Gentiles of every age. Still, the commandment is for all men everywhere, and if they obey it, the essence of the promise to Israel will still be true: they will live long upon the earth.

In stating the twofold obligation of parents to children, Paul's choice of the term "fathers" applies to both parents, for the discipline and government of the home properly belongs to them.

He cautions against exerting their authority in harsh, oppressive and unfair treatment. Instead, children should be chastened and admonished by influence rather than force; that by their own behavior and moral character, parents should prove themselves worthy of their children's respect and obedience.

Parson To Parson

by Roderick MacLeod

"Go Fishing!" As you read this our public streams will be crowded, with hopeful fishermen trying their best to bring home trout for breakfast or lunch.

Some places in our Pocono creeks are so overstocked with anglers it is a wonder that the trout are not trampled to death because there is hardly a square inch of unoccupied stream bed.

The quest for the illusive trout assumes a form of spring madness. There are so many hooks flying through the air that even the birds are not safe!

I know of one fellow who really did catch a fat as he cast a dry fly at an eventide.

Have you ever looked close at the tiny imitation flies that are created with great patience? They are miniature works of art and craftsmanship. Each little feather is selected for color and matched as close as possible to the real insect. When completed, the fly is an identical match of winged creatures that inhabit our streams. Many a wary trout has met his doom by mistaking one of these artificials for the real thing.

Spinners, little bits of polished metal that twirl and spin in the water account for a great many of caught trout. These lures imitate a small fish or minnow, natural food of larger trout, and are attacked most viciously when handled with skill. The metal lures are most vivid in color and often embellished with feathers — and always, the hook!

Fishing takes time and patience. If "they are not biting" one can always enjoy the sounds of running water over rocks, the twitter of birds and the eye filling pleasures of all outdoors.

Note how often fishing is mentioned in the Bible. With the start of Christ's Galilean ministry, Peter, Andrew, James and John were called by Jesus to full time association with Him as "fishers of men" (Mark 1:16-20 and Luke 5:1-11).

Now here is fishing at its best, and most difficult. Teaching men for the Lord by fishing for them out of the savage pool of the world, Christians should cast out the true line of faith with the lure of tasting the Gospel. This "fish" will be eternally grateful for having been caught. It starts with you, Christian fishermen — Have the courage to go after the Big Game — leave your nets, follow Him, and fish for men's souls!

Services Planned For Sunday

The impact on the Japanese people of two religious systems is the subject of a sound-color filmstrip to be shown at First Baptist Church in East Stroudsburg on Sunday.

"Gods In The Ricepots" describes how the customs and rituals surrounding the Shinto and Buddhist religions affect every aspect of Japanese life. It also illustrates some of the problems faced by Japanese who wish to become Christians.

The filmstrip was prepared by the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society of Wheaton, Illinois.

Also, he will bring with him literature, to set up a display at the session on behalf of the Stewardship Council and this special emphasis.

State News Roundup

Fire Destroys Honesdale Block

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—Fire swept through four buildings of the Keystone block in the center of town Friday, causing damage which, it was reported unofficially, might total $250,000.

Authorities said the fire apparently broke out in the basement of a large supermarket. The flames spread to a hardware store, the offices of a finance company and a three-story brick house. Tenants were routed from apartments on the second floor of the business buildings.

One fireman suffered from smoke inhalation, another was cut by glass fragments. Both were treated at a hospital and released.

The fire started about 6 a.m. and was brought under control at midday.

Philly Lawyers: Woodside Okay

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia lawyers have voted in a secret plebiscite that Judge Robert E. Woodside of the state Superior Court is qualified for another 10-year term, it was disclosed Friday. The Judiciary Committee of the Philadelphia Bar Association conducted the groups routine poll of jurists coming up for reelection. Judge Woodside, a Harrisburg Republican, was elected to a full term on the Superior Court in 1954.

Friends Spend $5 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The American Friends Service Committee said Friday that it has spent almost $5 million in the past fiscal year on service programs.

The committee, a Quaker organization, operated an international summer youth project in the Soviet Union, sent a delegation to East and West Germany seeking ways of easing tensions, and continued other programs at home and abroad.

The committee, with regional offices throughout the nation, has its headquarters here.

Registration GOP In Luzerne

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Republicans have a voter registration lead of 27,167 over the Democrats in Luzerne County, according to certified figures released Friday by the county commissioners.

The voter registration, as attested to by Frank P. Shantz, director of the County Registration and Election Bureau, shows a total of 106,964 voters registered as Republican and 79,797 as Democrat. There are 414 persons registered as independents. Total voter registrations is 187,236.

New Sewer Filter Approved

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Sanitary Water Board has opened the door to a revolutionary new sludge filter process that could affect community sewage treatment plants throughout Pennsylvania.

The process, which may be the first of its kind in the nation was approved specifically for the borough of Troy, climaxing a six-month test run alongside conventional filtering methods.

"The board's action clears the way for use of the new process in any community contemplating construction of a sewage treatment plant," said Paul Heitzinger, chief of the sewage section of the department of health.

"Of course," he added, "the communities still must submit appropriate applications and obtain approval of the board before putting the new process into operation. Approval would be based on the acceptability of each installation and whether the process could be adapted to the location."

The process was invented by T. D. Baxter of Lancaster.

The basic difference is in the filtering of sewage. Under the present process, sludge is drawn through the filter by a vacuum. The new method uses a faster rate, said Baxter.

Size is another advantage, he added. Facilities for the new method take up less space. Cost of the two processes are about similar.

Cigarette Sales Remain Lower

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cigarette sales appear to be making no strong rebound in Pennsylvania.

Soon after the U.S. surgeon general reported that cigarette smoking was a factor in causing lung cancer, an Associated Press survey showed that cigarette sales had fallen off up to 35 per cent in the state.

Now, three months after the report was issued, another canvass shows little change.

People Quit Smoking
That cigarette sales remain considerably lower than before the government report appeared is borne out not only by reports of retailers, wholesalers and vending machine companies, but by the word of more and more people who say they have sworn off.

Most dealers reporting a certain measure of recovery say it is attributable to a widespread switch to filter tips, especially the charcoal ones.

Cigars and pipe tobacco continue to ride high. Some shopkeepers say it is close to a boom. The surgeon general's report found cigar and pipe smoking less harmful than cigarette smoking.

Only Temporary?
Tobacco merchants differ as to what's ahead. On one side is the view: "It'll be a six-months wonder, and then we'll be back to normal—most of those who gave up cigarettes will be puffing away as before."

Opposing that is the opinion: "We can't hope for much of a cigarette comeback. Health authorities will make it tougher. We're pretty sure to get some kind of warning labels on cigarette packs. Campaigns against cigarette smoking will be intensified. The new filters are a

Lillian Reis Seeks New Trial

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Counsel for Philadelphia showgirl Lillian Reis, convicted of conspiracy in the burglary of the home of Pottsville coal dealer John B. Rich, is seeking a new trial.

Miss Reis was convicted Tuesday in her second trial. The first ended two years ago with a hung jury.

Atty. Robert Simone, who filed for a new trial Friday, also asked Judge Charles Staudenmeier for an arrest of judgment on grounds that the evidence did not sustain the verdict. He asked that the case be dismissed and Miss Reis be discharged.

Miss Reis is free on bail, awaiting the outcome of these moves.

Three men have been convicted in the bizarre Rich case, and two others were murdered in connection with the case.

Rich estimates his loss in the 1959 burglary at $20,000 in cash and jewelry, but police testified almost half a million dollars was stolen.

4 Kittens Born Without Tails

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—There is something new in the cat family and it all happened at a tavern owned by Leo Mayewski in nearby Shesheben.

Mayewski can't quite explain how such a thing could happen but his feline gave birth to four kittens recently, each being without a tail. In addition, he said all four kittens have six claws on their front paws instead of the usual five.

The kittens are black in color with white spots and apparently are as healthy as any normal cat, Mayewski said. Their mother was also born without a tail.

Safe Cigarette?

As many see it, the only really sound hope of getting cigarette sales back to pre-January levels is the possibility that someone will come up with a cigarette guaranteed to be free of the ingredients which have been found to be hazardous to health. But that seems as far away as a no-calorie martini, one retailer remarked.

The drop in cigarette sales is reflected in the reckoning of budget officials in Harrisburg. They predict that cigarette tax receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30 will be $5 million less than their estimated $96.7 million.

Actual Loss

The tax for the first quarter of this year totaled $23,109,000 compared with $19,560,000 in the corresponding period of 1963. But officials point out that the 1963 figure must be adjusted because of the tax increase from six to eight cents a pack, authorized by the legislature last July. Consequently, the revised figure for the first quarter of 1963 is $25,676,000. Thus the amount collected in the first quarter this year is $2,568,000 less than the year before.

A typical retailer's comment on the report came out. There was a great drop at first. A little of that lost business has come back.

Sales Drop

"Sales on all brands have dropped," reported the Unit Vending Corp. of Philadelphia. The A and S Vending Co., here commented, "Sales have definitely dropped, but we don't believe they will stay down."

Two Philadelphia retailers said cigarette sales are getting back to what they were before the government released its report. Another has had a contrary experience.

"I figure that at least three or four persons out of every 10 who used to be moderate to heavy cigarette smokers have either stopped altogether or cut way down. This is particularly true among men. I guess they take the report more to heart than the women."

James McKelvey, who runs a delicatessen, says: "It's a good guess that maybe half our customers have knocked off cigarettes or cut down."

The manager of a suburban drugstore said he may discontinue the sale of cigarettes, just because of the drop in that end of the business, and second, because the biggest demand for cigarettes now comes from young people, and he prefers not to sell cigarettes to them.

School to Use New Alphabet

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Delaware County plans to introduce the revolutionary initial teaching alphabet—which uses 43 symbols—on a county-wide experimental basis this fall, it was reported Thursday.

Judson E. Newburg, county reading consultant, said the success of the program on a small scale in the Media school system during the past year made Delaware County the likely choice for the program conducted under the auspices of the state Department of Public Instruction.

The system is designed to use the symbol-sound relationship in language to help children to read. In its first controlled tests at Lehigh University, Muhlenberg College and several other state schools, the program showed good results.

Probation Aides Attend Juvenile Parley

UNIVERSITY PARK — The final in a series of three institutes for county juvenile probation officers will be held at Pennsylvania State University this month as part of the coordinated State-local fight against juvenile delinquency, Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams said yesterday.

"Probation service for young people is one of our most potent weapons in combatting juvenile delinquency," Secretary Adams said. "Probation officers, through counseling of young offenders and their families, help young people to keep out of trouble."

"They prevent youngsters from dropping out of school in many instances, and they keep young people in their own communities instead of committing them to institutions."

"In addition to State grants to counties for the improvement of these services, made possible by the General Assembly, the institutes for probation personnel specializing in juvenile work further enable counties to establish and maintain effective services for the control and prevention of delinquency," Adams added.

The institutes will be co-sponsored by the Department of Public Welfare in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Association of Probation, Parole and Correction; the Council of Juvenile Court Judges, the Juvenile Court Judges Commission, the Department of Public Instruction, and the University.

The final institute of the series will be held April 20-24 on "Community Services and the Delinquent Child."

The institute is designed for all juvenile probation officers and will look at the operation of juvenile probation in relation to other community services that have significant influence on the life of the probation officer and his family.

Horace Volz, assistant chief probation officer of the Juvenile Division of Essex County Probation Department, Newark, N.J., will be the institute leader.

Attending from this area are Henry McCool, chief probation officer of Monroe County; and Robert Rayner, chief probation officer of Wayne County.

DA Withdraws Libel Action

YORK, Pa. (AP)—York County Dist. Atty. Daniel W. Shoemaker withdrew Thursday his libel action against two York newspapers, the York County Democratic Committee and a former Democratic county chairman.

Shoemaker filed the suit against the York Dispatch, York Gazette Co., the Democrats and former Chairman N. Neiman Crayley Jr. He contended a political advertisement in 1962 had libeled him.

The courts dismissed the suit, but Shoemaker appealed. He withdrew the appeal Thursday.

HARRISBURG — Expenditures for operation of Monroe County relief program dropped $6,938 when comparing the February costs with January's, the State Department of Public Welfare said yesterday.

According to the department, the February relief expenditure for the county stood at $49,499, as compared with the previous months $56,437.

White Haven To Get Awards

HARRISBURG (AP)—The transfer to White Haven State School of all state wards now at the Edward Reilly Center in Hawley was directed Friday by Mental Health Commissioner William P. Camp.

About 70 state-subsidized children now at the private Reilly Center are affected by the order, the Mental Health Department said.

Camp said the move "does not represent an evaluation of the Reilly Center. He added: "Such a decision will be made in the near future."

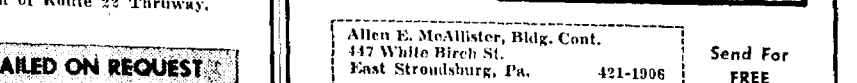

"The Reilly Center has been the object of allegations that children at the institution had been subject to abuse."

Public Welfare Secretary Arlin Adams said in March that the state was conducting an inquiry into operations at the Reilly Center.

Presidential Scholars

President Lyndon B. Johnson announced Thursday his establishment of a novel Commission on Presidential Scholars.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and a brother of former President Dwight Eisenhower, will be chairman of the seven-man commission to select 121 American high school and private school students of exceptional intellectual ability.

Two Presidential scholars, a boy and a girl, will be named from each state, two from Puerto Rico, two from the District of Columbia, two from American territories, and up to 15 at large.

They will be named in May and invited to the White House to meet President Johnson and to receive a medalion for high scholarship.

The idea is brilliant. Its effect will be to help raise the status and social standing of secondary school students who devote their energies to the pursuit of excellence in their studies instead of wasting their efforts on too many non-essential, extra-curricular amusements.

The only thing lacking to make Presidential scholarships the most desirable prize a high school student can win is that old incentive of American free enterprise — the huck.

If the President has decided not to award financial college scholarships to the lucky winners, then perhaps the colleges which win the Presidential scholars will give them scholarships.

At any rate this honor for academic achievement is a healthy stimulus for the youth of America.

The Goldwater 'Defeat'

Political commentators, almost without exception, have interpreted Senator Barry Goldwater's primary election victory in Illinois as anything but a victory.

They argue that despite the fact that Goldwater won 61 per cent of the Republican primary votes, he still did not score a smashing victory.

Even if you are not a Barry Goldwater fan, and this newspaper believes his nomination and election to the Presidency would be a great mistake, it is still a little ridiculous to say that he lost the Illinois primary because he only won 64 per cent of the vote.

It is true that Margaret Chase Smith took 26 per cent of the vote Tuesday. This is interpreted as a great victory, but the fact is that she was the only other name on the Illinois Republican primary ballot.

If voters didn't want to support Goldwater, they were free to vote for Mrs. Smith. Some did 197,000 of them.

But many more voted for Goldwater.

The write-in vote, which was lighter than the surprising flood in New Hampshire which picked Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, was six per cent for Lodge and three per cent for Nixon. If the Republicans of Illinois didn't like Goldwater they were free to write in Lodge or Nixon. Some did. But many more voted for Goldwater.

Part of the Goldwater "defeat" argument is based on the fact that Charles H. Percy, an Eisenhower liberal, defeated William Scott, an all-out Goldwater, republican for the Republican governor nomination.

That may be, but the fact remains that Goldwater won 61 per cent of the Republican votes for a Presidential candidate.

Political commentators and the press have a responsibility to the public to interpret the facts as they are reported and not as they would like to have them.

Comment Of The Day

"These awards are to recognize the most precious resource of the United States — the brain power of its young people — to encourage the pursuit of intellectual attainment among all our youth."

—President Lyndon B. Johnson explaining his new Presidential scholar program.

George Dixon

O'Brien And Cat

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON—One of our most high-minded lawmakers is Rep. Leo W. O'Brien of New York. Crowding 60, and seven times a grandfather, he is a pillar of public and private morality. Yet the other night he came perilously close to getting his distinguished face slapped by an outraged lady.

The meticulous Mr. O'Brien, ranking member of the important House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, was a dinner guest at the home of Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska. Senator Gruening, who at 77, does not countenance unseemly behavior at his dinner next to the state wife of Under Secretary of Commerce for Transportation Clarence D. Martin Jr.

The lovely Charlotte Martin is 5 feet 9 in. in stocking feet, which is exactly the height of Rep. O'Brien. But inasmuch as Mrs. Martin does not go to formal dinner parties without a dress, she would have topped the son by several inches had they been standing up, and squared off.

Moreover, Mrs. Martin is young and athletic. Of recent years Grandfather O'Brien has been sedentary.

At Senator Gruening's noted table, Rep. O'Brien informed the Committee Under Secretary's lady that he had just come from a reception at the White House. Thinking to interest his dinner partner, he gave her a rundown on what President Johnson had said, and what Ladybird had worn. Mrs. Martin seemed coldly uninterested.

The veteran Congressman strove to be his friendly self.

He felt he had every reason to expect the same from Mrs. Martin. But instead she kept giving him poisonous glances.

The mixed anger and disgust on her face deepened. Finally she hauled off and gave Rep. O'Brien an irate poke in the ribs.

Recoiling from the blow, Mr. O'Brien hitched the snowy tablecloth high enough so he could see under the table. There, rubbing itself against Mrs. Martin's — er — limb, was a huge Siamese cat.

Rep. O'Brien says he has no idea how long the beast had been up to the antics for which the son was blamed. He is still thanking heaven that the tablecloth was hitched up in time.

Mrs. Martin has a sequel to this epic, which exonerates an innocent gentleman too. The morning after the dinner she had breakfast with Mrs. Ralph M. Paeiwonski, wife of the Governor of the Virgin Islands, who had also been a Gruening guest.

Mrs. Paeiwonski confided darkly to Mrs. Martin that she had evidence of questionable conduct by her husband the evening before. She held up Gov. Paeiwonski's formal dinner trousers. They looked as if he had rolled in a bed of fur.

"It must have been during that period after dinner when Ralph was out of my sight," said the Governor's lady.

Mrs. Martin absolved the Governor with the tale of the cat — and the Paeiwonskis returned, in marital trust, to the Virgin Islands.

The aforementioned Rep. O'Brien was floor leader of the bills that brought Alaska and Hawaii into Statehood. As a member of the Democratic seniority he has much to say about the awarding of Government projects all over the nation.

Mr. O'Brien now represents the Albany, N.Y. district, but he was born in Buffalo. Recently he was honored speaker before the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in his native city. He said:

"It is fifty years since I last spoke in Buffalo. At that time I said a piece at my sister's high school graduation.

"I said that when I became a great big grown man I would be a baker and throw pie crust all along the road.

"Now I'm throwing dough all over."

ABOUT TOWN

It Could Happen

Brown's neighbor was a compulsive borrower.

Observing his neighbor approach his house, Brown put down his golf bag and muttered to his wife, "He won't get away with it this time. Watch this."

"I wonder if you'll be using your power saw this morning," the neighbor began.

"I'm awfully sorry," Brown replied. "The fact is, I'll be using it all day."

"In that case," said the neighbor, "you won't be using those golf clubs — mind if I borrow them?"

A Curious World

Cassius Clay talked all the time and won the title; Cabot Lodge said nothing and got the votes; Margaret Chase Smith said little and got little.

A friendly, wise warmth lingers on.

Reporter's Notebook

By Jeff Cox

Daily Record Reporter

It's almost fair time at Flushing Meadows again. . . these 25 years later.

For many people under 30, the New York World's Fair of 1939 seems to represent a last, great orgy of self-congratulation before the immolation and fury of World War II.

For these younger people, that long-ago fair only lives in the seclusion of the family photo box, where the rummager may chance upon a picture of mom and her friend Betty from Cincinnati standing before the triton and perisphere.

Walking To Sleep

And there are stories of "walking all day and then the next day, until we were too tired to even sleep. . ."

People still talk about the General Electric exhibit, and the views of the world of tomorrow.

But now, that world of tomorrow, so hopefully slapped together, with concrete and paper mache, has come and gone.

Using hindsight, a very amusing gambit but one not thing, we can imagine that fair-goers of 1939 would have preferred not to see the real world of tomorrow.

1939 Fair

It was a strange time for a "World's Fair."

Aching depression had slowed this country, and others; Europe was moving slowly under the thunderhead of Hitler; things were not getting too much better, and then:

World's Fair with all the amazing tricks and gadgets of the future with the flags of all nations flying in glorious tribute to mankind in his eternal quest of better living through science and the marvels and wonders of human genius. . .

And then, just as quickly, bombs dropped and the oily smoke of death clouded the world for five unbelievably long years.

Optimism In 1964

For 1964's fair, the setting is a little more in tune with the meaning of such exhibitionism.

Though the cold war is too much with us, it shows signs of thawing; the Defense Department hasn't had to send many death notices lately; the economy rocks along like an express train, with only a small application of brake from the hard-core unemployed.

It's a good time for a fair. Seattle erected its fair at the right time.

Brussels' fair came at a relatively calm period. But 1939?

Strange Time

What a testament to human optimism, holding a World's Fair spanning between the greatest depression of all time and the greatest war of all time.

But that observation comes from using hindsight; and hindsight can't tell us anything about the future.

In the year 2064, maybe people will be saying, "What a testament to human optimism, holding a World's Fair spanning between the most fear-filled decades in history and . . ."

DEAR ABBY: My problem

DEAR ABBY: What makes a pastor think he can stand in the pulpit and insult a member of his parish week after week, and get away with it? I have sat there, fighting back the tears while he has aimed his remarks directly to me and to me alone. He has done everything except mention my name. I am getting tired of this. What do you suggest?

INSULTED

DEAR NAMELESS: Ask your husband to tell his mother what she is doing, perhaps unwittingly. YOU keep out of it. Eventually the children will make their own evaluation, on their own terms and in their own way.

DEAR ABBY: The past two weeks a man has been calling my home. As soon as he hears my voice, he starts with a string of filthy questions. I hang up on him. Now when my phone rings I can tell that someone is on the other end, but he never says anything. He just tries to my line. Should I report this to the police, or to the telephone company?

NOT LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

DEAR NOT LOOKING: The next time he calls, send someone quietly to the neighbors and have them report it to both the telephone company and the police. If this can be done while he is still on your line, the call can be traced.

DEAR ABBY: There is an old saying, "If the shoe fits — wear it." Too many shoes fit. Perhaps you should do a little "soul-searching."

Parents Should Back Teachers' Disciplinary Action

Editor, The Daily Record: I found this clipping in the Farm Journal, and thought it was worth passing along to your good paper. I have heard that the same problem exists in this area, of parents belittling the teachers in the presence of their children. Childrens actions are parents responsibility, whether they are on the school bus or at school.

Ross School Directors Wanted Further Stroud Merger Study

Editor, The Daily Record:

The article headed "Pleasant Valley Kills Merger Plan" on the first page of the Daily Record for Saturday, April 11, has just come to our attention.

The facts related in the article are substantially correct, but it seems to us that the overall impression is somewhat inaccurate or misleading.

The decision of the Pleasant Valley Joint School Committee to refuse "to explore further the proposed merger" (with Stroud Union) was by no means unanimous.

Prior to the joint meeting on March 24, the school directors of Ross Township, one of three in the Pleasant Valley Jointure, adopted a resolution favoring a single county unit but recommending consideration of a merger with Stroud Union as a possible alternate plan.

Consequently, we welcomed the invitation extended by Stroud Union on March 24, especially since it was for exploratory talks only, with no commitments on either side.

We felt then, as we still do, that such discussions could hardly be harmful and might prove useful and enlightening. There might even be the possibility that closer examination would reveal reorganization plans more attractive for all of us than the single unit plan now supported by our joint board.

Mr. Raymond Roberts of Stroud Union is entirely correct in his assumption that "the study started and ended on March 24."

There was some additional discussion later that evening, after Stroud Union had extended its invitation and departed, with the Ross Township directors recommending acceptance of the invitation and some of the others expressing opposition.

In our opinion, the opposition was largely crystallized by a statement from Supervising Principal John Mills expressing his belief that a single county unit is virtually inevitable.

This view was also expressed by Pleasant Valley Joint Board President Jerome Blakeslee, who is also a member of the County Board. Since Mr. Blakeslee acknowledged that the County Board is apparently split 3-2 in opposition to a single unit, and since we are not privy to commitments which would reverse the County Boards decision, some of us were unable completely to share the optimism expressed by Messrs. Mills and Blakeslee.

Since the March 24 meeting was informal, with no minutes being recorded, no vote was called for. However, a vote was taken, without further discussion, at our regular monthly meeting on April 8.

The four members from Ross Township who were present voted "yes" on a motion to continue discussions with Stroud Union. All other members present voted "no." And there the matter rests.

Trust Teen-Agers Too Much?

Dear Editor: Do you agree with me that too many parents have gone completely overboard in trusting their teen-agers?

I've done a right-about-face on this since I was a teen because I was so sure then that my mother was wrong.

She made it her business to know exactly where I was going, with whom I was going, and when I would be home. Sometimes she checked on me.

A few years ago when I was teaching, I thought it was my duty to tell a teen-ager that her behavior with a boy on the school bus was most unbecoming and suggestive.

"What would your mother say if I told her about this?" I asked.

The young girl looked me straight in the eye and laughed.

"She would call you a liar because I would deny it. My mother trusts me. If you don't believe it, ask what happened to my seventh grade teacher."

It turned out that the teacher had lost her job because she reported the girl to the principal for similar behavior. So it was no surprise when the girl suddenly married and gave birth to a "very premature baby."

Not long ago a boy begged a local policeman not to report him for drag racing—his parents trusted him and he had sworn never to speed, much less race.

Aren't we asking too much of our teen-agers when we give them cars, plenty of spending money and complete freedom, and then expect them not to be a little reckless?

It seems almost as safe as handing a child a loaded gun for a toy and asking him not to point it at anyone.

Will our young people blame us later for not understanding that they need guidance as much as trust?

DELAWARE RIVER VALLEY EXPRESSWAY

From Trenton to Wind Gap Backed

Editor, The Daily Record:

I think that it would be very nice if sometime during the month of April, 1964, you would publish for the benefit of your readers the following:

I suppose a good many of your readers have never heard of this legend before and it would be of interest to them.

"The Legend of the Dogwood Tree"

"At the time of the Crucifixion, the dogwood tree was as large and strong as the oak, and was chosen as the timber for the cross.

"To be used for this purpose distressed the tree, and Jesus, in his pity, promised: "Never again shall you grow large enough to be used for a cross.

"Henceforth, the dogwood tree shall be slender and twisted; its blossoms in the form of a cross . . . two long and two short petals.

"At the edge of each petal there shall be nail prints; in the center of the flower, a Crown of Thorns. And this tree shall be cherished as a reminder of My Cross.

"So it has been, and the spring-time flowering of the dogwood has remained a symbol of Divine Sacrifice and the Triumph of Eternal Life."

There is the Prospect Cemetery in East Stroudsburg, Pa., in which was planted a number of years ago, dozens of these dogwood trees.

They blossom every spring, and it is a most beautiful sight to see and is well worth the time taken to go and see them.

The author of this legend is unknown.

School Criticized On Negotiations

STROUDSBURG — A spokesman for Pocono Paradise Co., landowners in an area where Stroud Union will build a new stadium criticized the school board for not fully negotiating for a right of way agreement needed to divert a creek.

The agreement was needed to divert Little Pocono Creek in order to build a new junior high school.

The state Department of Forest and Waters has ordered the creek, which runs near where the new building will be located, diverted. The board has chosen a new diversion course.

Atty. Walter Olenick, who represents Pocono Paradise, said, "The school board only entered into negotiations about a month ago. Last Wednesday at 11 a.m. the company was informed by the board to accept an offer of settlement or the board would change the course of the creek."

One Hour to Settle
"The company had only one hour to settle. It was in the process of negotiating and did not want to be hurried. They weren't that far apart and one or two days would have brought about a satisfactory agreement."

Pardee Place of East Stroudsburg, who along with Joseph Farda of East Stroudsburg, RD 2, owns the company, said he had offered to sign the agreement for $7,500 and the school board was offering $5,000. He said he originally asked $10,000.

Place said the creek would take a 50 by 100 foot section of a property recently purchased for $12,500 and would run through an additional 600 feet of land owned by the company.

Edward Williams, board solicitor, said, "I don't remember how long negotiations were going on. We did endeavor to negotiate and the negotiations failed."

Planned For A Year
The building project, which includes the new school and stadium, has been in the planning stage for more than a year.

However, when bids were opened April 3 it was disclosed that four of eight rights of way agreements needed to divert the creek were unsigned.

Agreement with one of the property owners was not reached until last Wednesday, the day the board accepted a bond issue to cover the cost of the project's construction. The new project will cost $1,670,000.

Failure to reach an agreement with Pocono Paradise has forced the school board to divert the creek across its own property. Little Pocono is being channeled into Pocono Creek to avoid flood danger to new buildings.

The new plan will mean the board will lose the use of some land planned for a parking area. Edward Hess, school district engineer, said the new diversion course would not cost any additional money.

Robert Hellmann, board president, said, "The new course shouldn't be any problem. The cost should be equal and maybe in the long run we will be better off. We will lose parking for 100 cars but we have a lot of land."

Walter Earns Company Honors

STROUDSBURG — Richard B. Walters, of Stroudsburg, again has earned membership in the Million Dollar Round Table, the life insurance industry's 3,500-member elite international organization of million-dollar-a-year sales producers.

Life members who have earned the honor by fulfilling current and previous requirements.

Walters, with New York Life, has been in the life insurance profession for nine years and is a repeating qualifier of the Round Table.

Volunteers Fight 11 Brush Fires

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County firemen were kept hustling yesterday fighting eleven brush fires.

Stroudsburg firemen were called at 5:30 p.m. to douse a trashbarrel fire next to the Italian Club at 408 Main St.

Nelson Lightner Jr., fire chief, said a malfunction of the siren was the reason for the continued sounding.

At noon East Stroudsburg firemen were called to extinguish a rubbish fire which got out of control. The blaze was at the former Abloff car lot, now the Ehrlich Market, on North Courtland St. Twenty-five firemen were at the scene 20 minutes.

Barrett Township volunteer firemen answered a false alarm at 10 p.m. when a resident saw controlled burning for a fire line along the Erie Lackawanna Railroad right of way in Cresco.

Mt. Pocono firemen extinguished two brush fires yesterday, both of a minor nature, in East Stroudsburg. The first call came at 12:45 and the second at 3:15 p.m. The second fire burned three-quarters of an acre.

A one-acre brush fire was doused by 15 men and three pieces of equipment from the Marshall Creek Fire Co. at 11 a.m. The 30-minute fire was on the old Wayne Posten property above Eagle Valley Corner, north of East Stroudsburg on Reservoir Road.

Bushkill firemen extinguished a one-acre grass fire at 2 p.m. on Sugar Mountain near Bushkill.

East Bangor Fire
At 4:15 p.m., East Bangor firemen doused a lumber and brush fire on the East Bangor to Mt. Bethel Rd. about a mile from East Bangor at the rear of Ronco's Garage.

West End firemen doused a car fire at 9 a.m. on Rt. 209 between Gilbert and Brodheads-ville. The cause was attributed to a short circuit in car wiring.

Wind hampered the efforts of Kunkletown firemen to extinguish a six-acre grass fire on the Floyd Smith Farm on the road from Decker's Turkey Farm to Weir Lake, near Kunkletown.

Firemen said a bulldozer aided in clearing a path for equipment to move in and fight the fire.

It further claims the accident was caused by negligent driving by Anderson.

The boy's injuries are itemized in the complaint. It is alleged he will have permanently deformed left hand as a result of the accident.

Ross to Correct Budget Errors

SAYLORSBURG — Ross Twp. supervisor James Fritz last night said that if there was an error in the township budget they would take necessary action at the Monday, May 4, meeting to correct it.

The Daily Record published the township budget yesterday. In checking a copy of the budget obtained from the Department of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, a $15 shortage was discovered.

The supervisors, at their April 3 meeting, refused permission to a reporter from the newspaper to inspect the budget.

Family Seeks Fishing Doctor

STROUDSBURG — Dr. Frank A. Dick of 15 McKinley St., Brentwood, Long Island, was sought last night by relatives anxious to contact him because his mother has died.

Mrs. Barbara Ulrich of Brentwood, housekeeper at the Dick home, said the doctor is in the Pocono Mountains for the opening of the fishing season.

She did not know where he is staying, but said he is driving a pink Cadillac with New York license 7305P.

East Bangor Poll Backs House-to-House Delivery

EAST BANGOR — East Bangor residents have voted in favor of house-to-house delivery from a new branch office of the Bangor Post Office.

They rejected in a Post Office questionnaire poll a proposed new East Bangor Post Office, which would not have had enough customers to offer house-to-house delivery.

U.S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney announced the outcome of the survey yesterday in Washington. He did not announce the vote count, but said it was "a substantial majority."

Statement
Rooney issued this statement: "I want to congratulate the residents of East Bangor for their fine cooperation in the Post Office Department poll. I am recommending to the department that house-to-house delivery be initiated as soon as possible."

"As I have said before, my only desire in this matter was to give the people, themselves, the opportunity to express their will. The majority of the ballots returned to Postal Officer Robert Brown at the Allentown district office of the Post Office Department are in favor of city-style delivery in the borough."

"This means that, within the near future, East Bangor residents will be able to have their mail delivered to their doors, without making a special trip downtown to pick up letters and packages."

"At the same time, East Bangor will have a branch office of the Bangor Post Office where residents will be able to purchase stamps, money orders and other postal services and mail packages when they wish to."

The poll of legal heads of households in East Bangor borough was conducted entirely by the Post Office Department.

FLIES Recommended At Clearview PTA Meeting

Stroudsburg — The Clearview School PTA meeting was held Monday. Joseph Venne read the PTA prayer. This meeting was to have had nomination and election of officers for next year. However, the attendance was small and there was poor response. Mrs. Frank DeRosa was nominated for president and Venne offered his services as treasurer. The nomination for officers was adjourned until after the program.

Knauf introduced the speaker on foreign language, Mahlon Sorfass, chairman of the language department and Roger Dunning, superintendent of elementary schools of Stroud Union School District.

Sorfass spoke on "FLIES," meaning Foreign Language in Elementary Schools, which was organized as early as 1847 in the New York City schools.

A recent survey showed that 79 per cent of schools in the U.S. have a FLIES program. He pointed out that our children need this language program, stemmed from Washington, D. C., due to the rise in national power, trying to establish world peace, and to do this we must be able to communicate with the foreign countries.

Secondly, recreation as well as vocation, because we can now go around the world in a matter of hours and those who can afford these wonderful trips, would be able to communicate fluently and enjoy their travels. The vocation standpoint would interest young people to go to foreign countries as exchange students.

It is now believed that foreign language should be started in grade schools because it takes more than 4 years of high school and of college to learn it adequately. Also, language ties in with Social Studies. In this program, the children gain the fundamentals of the language skills; structure, sound, culture, interest and the desire to learn. In most other subject areas, and in recent Iowa tests French was higher than all other languages.

Dunning then showed several books on the learning of French, pictorial study and work books and one with songs in it. Dunning said they are recommending to the Board of Education for a foreign language program in the schools for next year. An open discussion followed.

The meeting then went back to the nomination of officers and was unsuccessful. Filers will be sent home with the children concerning this.

Mr. Doney's 5th Grade Class had a science and hobby fair on display in the hallway leading to the library and the principal's office. The displays were Bill Brodsky's, simple rocket engine; James Gerok, simple electric motor; James Morrissey, blinker motor; Ronald Thoney, the heart; Ellen Sebring, the Alaska earthquake in diagram; Gerald Mirlitsch, 4 slices thick bacon, dice, fried crisp.

Parmesan cheese.

1 can anchovies, diced.

1/2 cup olive oil.

1/2 cup vinegar.

dash lemon juice.

2 raw eggs, beat up.

dash pepper.

dash salt.

Put romaine lettuce in bowl, add hard toast broken into small pieces, diced fried bacon, and diced anchovies. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Pour olive oil, vinegar, lemon juice, beaten eggs, pepper and salt over greens and toss.

Another favorite salad of ours is the Chef's salad, a tossed salad with strips of turkey, ham and cheese added. It's so filling that you make a meal out of it along with hard, crusty rolls or French bread. The last time I made this I used tarragon vinegar because I happened to have had some in the cupboard and I liked the twang it gave the dressing.

A dry white wine, a rose wine or champagne all make excellent accompaniment to baked ham for a company dinner.

Parents are welcomed to see the display thru this week.

The serving table was decorated with the "April Shower" theme and spring flowers. Mrs. Wagner's fifth Grade mothers served refreshments with Mrs. Richard Lindsey and Mrs. Hilda Miklovich assisting Mrs. Joyce Phillips.

Linda Spotlights Salads That Have Appeal For Men

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist

When a man gives me a recipe or tells me about something he has eaten, then it must be good! So when Warren Eschback of Bushkill called me this winter to tell me of a good salad he had eaten, I knew he was impressed. In fact it was so good he said it was the best he had ever eaten and he was nice enough to get the recipe for me.

Many men do not like salads, but few dislike them if they are hearty and have some "body" to them. I think this is why Warren liked this salad, for it's similar to a Caesar salad that is filling and not fluffy. Bill and I both liked it and if you're a salad lover, I know you will, too. One bit of warning — those are raw eggs you put on the greens so be sure you heat them good first because if anyone suspects or sees part of a raw egg in front of their eyes I'm sure you know what their reaction would be!

Warren's Wonderful Salad. Romaine lettuce, washed and cut.

4 slices bread, toasted hard and rubbed with garlic.

Miss Bryan To Speak On Prejudice

East Stroudsburg — "Prejudice is the topic of discussion chosen by Miss Eloise Bryan, Stroud Union Schools psychologist for the final East Stroudsburg Secondary PTA meeting at 8 p.m.

She will discuss the meaning of prejudice and the role of home life and school in helping youth form opinions about all peoples in a reasonable and just manner.

Miss Bryan came to the Stroudsburg schools from the New Jersey system in 1950. She holds a masters degree from the University of Pennsylvania and is a special graduate in the study of Rorschach technique with Dr. Samuel Beck of Chicago.

In the local system, her main areas of concern are the preschool and early diagnostic tests with special emphasis on children's potential emotional problems.

According to Roger Dunning, principal of the Stroud Union Elementary Schools, Miss Bryan's work in the basis of the entire elementary school program.

Following the discussion, a business session will be held. The public is welcome to attend.

THE GREATEST SHOE ON EARTH !! WHERE?

Watch Wyckoff's Monday Ad

Working with the club committees planning tables for our Table of the Month exhibit here at Wyckoff's, makes me increasingly conscious of chinaware, crystal, and silverware. I honestly feel this exhibit will be one of the most stunning things we have ever done in our store, for Monroe County is fortunate in having many highly original, clever women whose talents seem to have been harnessed by the various organizations.

Looking over some of the silver in our Wyckoff display, I was attracted to an introductory offer of the new Orleans pattern of deep silver by the International Silver Company. Orleans is a magnificent design, inlaid with solid silver, hence the "deep silver" appellation. I am not sure what the cost of a complete service would be, but the oblong, gracefully contoured dish and spoon, offered to acquaint the public with the pattern, are priced at just 4.95. This would be a highly acceptable gift for any bride or engaged girl, and a handsome accessory for use in your own home, as appropriate for the serving of cottage cheese, pickles and relishes, as it is for candy, nuts, or minis.

Another introductory offer priced at just 1.00 is a pastry server of stainless steel in either Frostfire, Paul Revere, Cantata or Driftwood patterns. After July 1st, this piece alone will be 3.00. The Revere pattern is very plain, with a rather squared off handle. Driftwood is equally plain, but tapered. Cantata is scrolled—similar in silhouette to Chantilly, in sterling. The point is, there is a server that will blend neatly with any pattern of table ware you have, should you be interested.

All steamed up about the World's Fair? We hope you are, for it is really one of the most terrific events that has happened in our area since the World's Fair of several decades ago. Right now, Claude Miller and I are busy putting up posters in our Keystone Room showing some of the exciting things you will see when you make your visit along with one of our Wyckoff excursions. The first is May 9th, and already three busses have been filled.

In addition to selling World's Fair tickets and bus transportation here at Wyckoff's, our Travel Bureau is also selling the Official Guide Book compiled by the editors of Time-Life Books. Made to sell for 1.00, our Travel Bureau price is just 75c... so buy your copy here before you go, and save 25c. You'll find this an extremely informative booklet, describing all the exhibits, eating places, and such... in fact, offering complete guidance, so that every step of the way will afford you a maximum of pleasure.

Tomorrow evening will be a thrilling one for all lovers of god music. At that time, the Zion Choral Society of Allentown, numbering more than a hundred voices, will present a sacred concert at the college, East Stroudsburg. Proceeds will go toward renovating the Stroud Community House which was erected in the heart of our town by the founder of Stroudsburg, Jacob Stroud. Certainly, the cause is a most worthwhile one... and those who have heard the chorus tell me its concerts are thrillingly inspiring. Tickets may be purchased at Wyckoff's Gift Wrap Center for 1.25. The concert, at 8, will be preceded at 7:30 by an organ and piano prelude which will feature outstanding young area artists. Try to attend. If you decide to do so at the last moment tomorrow, you can purchase your tickets at the door.

Greentown Student Set For Year In Australia

NEWFOUNDLAND — Camp-erdown, Australia, will be "home" for a year for Joyce Gangewere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gangewere, of Lake Harbor Marina, Green-town, beginning in July.

Joyce, the Newfoundland Ro-tary Club's first exchange stu-dent to go abroad, will have twelve host homes — all homes of Rotarians — during her stay in Campdown, which is lo-cated 120 miles from Mel-bourne.

Her first family will be at the J. A. Bell farm, a "small" farm with some 1800 head of stock. She will attend Camp-erdown High School, about two miles from the farm.

Joyce, a student at Wallenpaupack Area Joint Junior-Senior High School, will fly from New York to San Francisco to Hawaii to the Fiji Islands to Sydney, a 2½-day trip. She decided to go by air when she learned that a voyage would take 21 days.

One of the problems is pre-paring to leave in July, and her trunk must be sent by this Saturday in order to arrive when she does, since it will take 2½-months to get there. She was told to prepare for the "cool, rainy" season in Aus-tralia, and was warned that central heating is what she may expect, and that she should bring the winter cloth-ing which she wears in the Po-conos for Summer in Australia.

Electrocuted In Bath Tub

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Davi-d J. Spangler, 49, was electrocuted Thursday while taking a bath in his home here. His body was discovered by his brother, Henry, with whom he resided. Police said that a clock radio which Spangler had on the edge of the tub fell into the water.
